New fears over future of home

FEARS have increased that a home for the elderly in Haverhill will be closed.

It follows Suffolk County Council's announcement that the company it has chosen to run all its care homes will build 10 new ones.

Last year more than 4,000 people signed a petition opposing plans to close or sell off Place Court residential home for the elderly in Camps Road.

Haverhill Town Council had expressed an interest in taking over the running of the home, but Suffolk County Council declined an invitation to discuss it.

The council announced this week that Colchester-based Care UK had been chosen to run its 16 care homes – including Place Court and Wamil Court, Mildenhall. The company plans to build 10 new 60- to 80-bed homes.

Although Haverhill is identified as one of the places where sites are available, no decision has yet been taken about where the new homes would be provided and what would happen to existing ones.

Haverhill mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "I was shocked and very concerned to discover that care homes in Suffolk are threatened with closure following the appointment of Care UK as Suffolk County Council's preferred manager of the county's homes.

"The town council has long campaigned against the outsourcing of the homes, and in particular our own Place Court. It is regrettable and demeaning to the local community that the county council has refused to meet

Help on hand to deal with residents' issues

A DOZEN organisations will be on hand for an event to help residents tackle their problems.

Haverhill residents with a problem can take it along to a special "informative day" on Tuesday, April 24, at Leiston Community Centre, where various organisations will do their best to come up with a solution.

The day, from 11am to 3pm, is being hosted by the One Haverhill group and is designed for local people to drop in and talk to the experts about the issues affecting them. The agencies and organisations attending can provide advice and support.

Anne Gower, chairman of One Haverhill said: "I often find that a problem involves more than one issue and it is not simple and straightforward to find a resolution or a compromise. This event will enable you to speak to the right people at the right time to help solve your problem. If the solution to your problem is not available on the day then you will be given the information to make that contact."

Representatives from organisations dealing with housing, jobs, benefits, debt and health, among others, will be attending. The event is open to all.

For more information, contact Dawn Goss, community development officer, St Edmundsbury Borough Council, on (01284) 757096 or e-mail dawn.goss@stedsbc.gov.uk.

Mum's shock as boy finds syringe

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MOTHER has spoken of her horror after her 9-year-old son brought home a used syringe he had found nearby.

Sabrina Start said son Owen had found the syringe at the side of a tree behind his home in Cambridge Way, Haverhill, where he had been playing with his friends. She immediately phoned the police, but was not happy with the response she received.

Mrs Start said: "He produced it when he came into the house and asked me what it was. I have never moved so fast in my life. I took it from him as quickly as I could. Thank God he had not taken the cap off.

"My husband phoned the police and I felt quite insulted, because they said he should have known what it was and not to touch it. It is not the sort of thing you sit around the dinner table discussing, the drug needles of smackheads.

"It was heartbreaking to have to explain to him what it was and what they had been using it for. It is taking his innocence away from him.

"I was really shocked - we have never had anything like that around here before. It seems like they can take drugs where they like now that there are no streetlights on any more. All the children play out there and it does not bear thinking about what could have happened.

"I was also told to put it in the wheelie bin, but I knew you are not supposed to put sharp items in your bin. I have a neighbour who is diabetic and he got rid of it for us.

"I was horrified and I want to make sure something is done to stop it and to warn other parents that this is happening. We never see police officers walking around here and I think something needs to be done to stop this happening again."

Sgt Sarah Bartley of Haverhill Police advised residents to contact St Edmundsbury Borough Council if any more needles were found.

She said: "They can be hazardous and the council, I am sure, would be happy to come and collect for disposal. I would not advise anyone to touch such items due to the health risk they pose.

"We do not routinely collect such items due to the hazard. I am not aware of any other similar incidents but of course I am concerned when needles are found in public places.

"I would also be happy to hear from anyone who knows anything about drug use/supply to contact the SNT as we would be robust in any enforcement activity with regards to drugs, particularly where members of the local community are affected."

D-Day veteran's fury over transport snub

D-DAY veteran Joe Warren has spoken of his disgust at being told he no longer qualifies for free hospital transport - because he is not ill enough.

Mr Warren, 89, has been attending Addenbrooke's Hospital for regular check-ups since 1990 when his leg had to be amputated after circulation problems caused gangrene. He wears a prosthetic leg and also has problems with his hip, which mean he is unable to walk without crutches.

Recently Mr Warren called the hospital transport department to arrange transport for his next appointment and was shocked to be told that it would no longer be provided.

Mr Warren said: "I think it is disgusting. I have been going there regularly since 1990 with no problems at all. I call it my MOT. I call them when I get a problem and go to have my strapping re-done. They said because of my medical condition and that I am not on benefit, they could not provide transport for me.

"I went yesterday and I got the local volunteer transport to take me, which cost £13. There was a bit of a mix-up because I was told my driver had already left, so it cost me £33 for a taxi. It seems that because I am not dying, I have got to pay for it. It really did make me mad. I have worked all my life and never claimed a penny."

Mr Warren, of Forrest Glade, Haverhill, a great-grandfather, moved to Haverhill in 1988, after his wife died. He served in the Commandos for six years during the Second World War, with 100 people in his battalion killed and another 200 wounded or missing.

A spokesman said: "NHS Suffolk cannot comment on individual cases.

"Non-urgent patient transport services are commissioned by NHS Suffolk and provided by the East of England Ambulance Service to provide transport for patients with a medical need so they can get to and from appointments or get home from hospital.

"A patient with a medical need for transport is classed as someone where it would be detrimental to their condition or recovery if they were to travel by any other means, where someone's medical condition impacts upon their mobility to such an extent that they would be unable to access healthcare, or where someone needs to be accompanied by an escort or carer, this might include where a child requires transport or where a patient has a physical or mental health need."

Taxi drivers warned over spate of thefts

TAXI drivers have been warned to make sure their vehicles are locked after three were targeted by thieves in recent weeks.

Haverhill police issued the warning after thefts from two unlocked taxis in the past week. They also believe the same opportunist thieves could be responsible for an incident three weeks ago when a cash bag was stolen from a locked taxi in Chauntry Road, after a window was smashed.

In the latest thefts personal items were taken from a taxi parked in Thurlow Place over night between Thursday, April 12 and Friday. Then on Sunday, April 15, at about 8.30pm, a cash bag was taken from a taxi dropping off a fare in Harrow Road.

Sgt Sarah Bartley of Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team said all vehicles marked as taxis could be targeted and urged drivers to be more careful.

She said: "There are people walking around looking for things to steal and leaving vehicles unlocked for even a short time makes it easy for them."

Paul's marathon effort for hospice

BUILDING society manager Paul Millar is pounding the streets in preparation for Sunday's London Marathon.

Mr Millar, who is the area manager for Ipswich Building Society's branches in Haverhill, Sudbury and Hadleigh, will run the 26 miles as a fundraiser for the St Elizabeth Hospice.

He signed up for the race after being inspired by the work undertaken by hospice staff and is hoping to raise more than £3,000. Ipswich Building Society chief executive Paul Winter has also signed up and will be running in aid of the Papworth Trust.

To support Paul Millar's fundraising efforts for St Elizabeth Hospice, visit www.justgiving.com/millarsmarathon.

'Arsenal' case sent to Crown court

A MAN accused of having a huge arsenal of unlicensed weapons and ammunition at his home has had the case against him sent to Crown court.

Karl Dowling, 48, faces a total of 21 charges under the Firearms Act relating to dozens of weapons, including machine guns, automatic and semi-automatic weapons, pistols, double-barrelled and sawn-off shotguns. He is charged with possessing the items without a firearms certificate in Bramble Close, Haverhill, on February 5 this year.

Dowling appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on Friday. Magistrates sent his case to Ipswich Crown Court and granted him bail until his next appearance on April 24.

MP to see blooming good church display

MP Matthew Hancock will be among visitors to Haverhill's new Catholic church, which hosts civic celebrations with flowers and music this weekend.

Haverhill and District Flower Club will arrange thousands of blooms at the new St Felix Church in Princess Way, Haverhill, for the Vision and Sound Festival of Flowers and Music from tomorrow until Sunday.

The church will be open to the public from 2pm on Friday, with an opening ceremony at 6.30pm, followed by a concert at 7.30pm. Visitors are welcome at the church from 10am to 5pm on Saturday and from 12noon to 4.30pm on Sunday.

Be alert: Jackie Sharpe from Haverhill has issued a warning to other cat owners after her pet Benson, inset, died after being poisoned.

Picture: Keith Jones 820667.

Warning after cat poisoned

HEARTBROKEN cat lover Jackie Sharpe is warning others to be on their guard after her pet died from poisoning.

Jackie of Mill Hill, Haverhill, took 10-month-old Benson to the vet on Easter Sunday and was told he had been poisoned, probably with antifreeze. His kidneys had failed and he had to be put down.

Jackie reported what had happened to the police and said she has since heard of another cat which had been poisoned, two which had gone missing and two which had been shot.

She said: "I am so upset; I feel bereft. I really love my cats and he was the most beautiful cat I have ever had. He would follow me round the house – he was like my shadow. I still have his brother, Bobby, and he is really missing him.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"I think it must have been antifreeze or it would not have affected him so badly. Someone round here obviously does not like cats, but I cannot believe they would do this. I am really worried about my other cats and I just want to warn other people that this can happen.

"I have not been well and this has set me right back to square one. I have cried so many tears for him."

Sgt Sarah Bartley of Haverhill Police said she was not aware of any other similar incidents, but would encourage anyone to report any such case or if they have any information about what has taken place.

In similar circumstances an investigation would be carried out and evidence gathered to identify who might be responsible.

She said: "Two of my PCSOs have been dealing with this particular case and have spoken to the lady and carried out reassurance patrols and visits in the area.

"Obviously we would be keen to prevent any similar occurrence and would actively encourage people to be vigilant and let us know at the earliest opportunity of any concerns they have in relation to their animals."

Crime down for the sixth year in a row

CRIME in Suffolk has fallen for the sixth consecutive year according to the latest figures, despite police facing significant financial challenges.

Figures from April 1 2011 to March 31, 2012, show there were 45,641 crimes recorded in Suffolk – 716 fewer than in the same period in 2010/2011.

As well as the decrease in overall crime across the county, the latest figures also show 11 per cent decreases in criminal damage and arson offences and two per cent decreases in domestic burglary and vehicle crime.

Robbery, which is a force priority, increased by nine per cent with 28 more crimes, but solved robbery crimes increased by 19 per cent or 15 crimes.

Violence against the person saw a small decrease of 23 crimes, but a one per cent increase in crimes solved, by 37 crimes.

Assistant Chief Constable Paul Marshall said: "It is extremely pleasing that for the sixth consecutive year overall crime has fallen across the county.

"Suffolk Constabulary continues to face significant challenges as we look to make financial savings over the coming years. In the last year we have made savings of almost £5m while retaining a strong visible front-line presence in the county.

"Burglaries, which cause a great deal of distress to people, have seen a decrease this year compared to the previous year when there was a slight increase. Simple measures can often be taken to help prevent these sorts of crimes and both officers and our crime reduction teams work throughout the year offering advice and guidance to people who have been victims of crime and those nearby to ensure future incidents do not occur.

"Robberies remain an area of concern and in view of the upturn in offences Suffolk Police Authority has determined this to be a top priority for the force this year. I am encouraged to see a rise in the number of offences that have been detected."

Joanna Spicer, Chairman of Suffolk Police Authority said: "This is very encouraging news."

with us, and has paid no attention to a 4,000-signature petition opposing the outsourcing and possible closure of the home.

"This unaccountable and undemocratic approach to social care is wholly unacceptable to the people of Haverhill. The town council believes that there are alternatives to outsourcing that will provide a positive future for our care homes, and that there are risks associated with privately-run homes that could have been avoided.

"The result now is that residents and their families are being subjected to unnecessary anxiety and uncertainty."

She added: "Care UK is a major provider of private health and social care services, but this does not mean that the company is right for Haverhill. There is a concern that their need to make a profit will have an adverse effect on the services they provide.

"It feels very much at the moment as though health and social care services in Haverhill are under attack, by organisations that make decisions many, many miles away, and who seem to have no interest in listening to our views.

"I offer one message to the county council before it continues with the outsourcing of Place Court, and it is the same one that I offer to NHS Suffolk following their recent decision to close the Crown Health Centre: stop threatening services for vulnerable people in Haverhill. Start listening to Haverhill. Our community is more important than your budget cuts."

Clr Colin Noble, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for adult and community services, said: "Care UK is nationally recognised as specialists in dementia care with a proven track record of meeting the needs of the most vulnerable in society."

"I will visit each home once plans have been finalised. I fully understand how unsettling change can be and therefore I want to make sure the people affected have the opportunity to discuss plans directly with me."

Adoption hopes high as service gets top marks

ADOPTION in Suffolk has been rated as outstanding by Ofsted – and it is hoped this may encourage more potential parents to come forward.

The official inspection and regulating body for children's services made the assessment of Suffolk County Council's adoption service following a recent inspection.

The service was praised for the recruitment of adoptive families and for fully preparing both families and the children for the process.

Following national interest, Suffolk Adoption Service was also praised for the quality and timely manner of matching children and adoptive families.

In particular, Ofsted praised the service on its dedicated staff: "This agency is

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

exceptionally well managed and staffed by people who are totally dedicated to improving the lives of children."

During the recent inspection, one adopter summed up their experience of working with the agency by saying: "From start to finish the agency has performed outstandingly well and communicated exceptionally well. They are clearly child-focused but sensitive to our needs at all times."

Cllr Graham Newman, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for children, schools and young people's services, said: "I am delighted that Suffolk's adoption service has been rated as Outstanding by Ofsted."

"With the heightened national political interest in how local authorities currently handle adoption services, it is extremely gratifying to know that Suffolk is one of the most respected in the whole of the country.

"Our success can be attributed to the dedicated members of staff who have the knowledge, ability and compassion to make a real difference to the lives of the children and young people in our care and indeed the adoptive families.

"I would like to congratulate them on this outstanding achievement."

Suffolk Adoption Agency now hopes the report will encourage more local people to come forward and consider adopting a Suffolk child.

'Guild' ladies tackle Dickens classic

A VERSION of Charles Dickens classic A Christmas Carol unlike any before it forms the backdrop for a hilarious comedy being staged by a successful theatre company.

Centre Stage Company brings another Farndale Avenue Housing Estate Townswomen's Guild Dramatic Society comedy to Haverhill Arts Centre next week.

To celebrate the bicentenary of the birth of Charles Dickens, the ladies are presenting another assault on the classics, with their very original version of A Christmas Carol. No Farndale play would be quite complete without those wayward touches of ingenuity for which they are justly famed.

For those who have seen their other productions of Macbeth,

The Mikado, Murder At Checkmate Manor, and for those who have not, this is an opportunity not to be missed.

Performances are from April 26-28, at 7.30pm, with a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

Tickets are now on sale from the Arts Centre Box Office on (01440) 714140, Thursday and Saturday matinee £7, Friday and Saturday evening £8.

Six singing stars are chosen for town gig

JUDGES have chosen the super six performers who will help entertain crowds at a special Haverhill Jubilee tribute concert in June.

The Weekly News joined forces with Haverhill Town Council for a Jubilee Factor competition, giving local performers the chance to showcase their talents during the concert on the town's Market Square on Saturday, June 2.

More than 20 performers turned up for an open audition at Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager for Haverhill Town Council, and Jade Donno, an Open Mic contest winner, had their work cut out selecting the final six from the hopefuls who came along, ranging in age from 9 to 50.

Nick said: "We have more than 20 auditions on the day and were really impressed by the standard. Everybody who sang did themselves proud."

"Six singers have been selected to take part in the evening concert and a number of other youngsters will get the chance to sing as part of the schools showcase in the afternoon.

"The concerts will give people a chance to see the amazing talent that exists in Haverhill."

"The little kids really loved it and the 9-year-old who got through (Geraldine Nacionalec) was amazing. It was mostly girls, but we did have one lad who got through. They mainly sang recent stuff, but we are trying to encourage them to do some songs from over a wider time period."

The chosen six are: Geraldine, Claudette Burch, Sabrina Wray, Zoe Turner, Dale Bennett and Jessica Stephens.

The winners will now have the chance to work with a voice coach to enhance their performances. The Jubilee Tribute Concert on June 2 will feature a Freddie Mercury sings Queen and a Beatles Tribute, alongside the Jubilee Factor winners.

Getting ready: members of the two choral societies in rehearsal.

Haverhill Choral Society

AFTER weeks of rehearsals, the date of a big combined choir concert draws near.

Haverhill Choral Society and Sudbury Choral Society are performing the Verdi Requiem in St Edmundsbury Cathedral on Saturday, May 5 at 7.30pm.

Roma Holmes from Haverhill Choral Society, said: "This is a very exciting project for both societies, and so far tickets are selling well."

"This is a big venture for these local choirs who would welcome your support. Verdi's music is dramatic and powerful and with over 140 singers, four invited soloists, a full orchestra and two musical directors sharing the baton, it promises to be a night to remember."

Earlier this month, the two groups got together for the first joint rehearsal at Samuel Ward Academy. The sound produced by these enthusiastic singers was breathtaking and almost raised the roof.

Tickets are available from the Apex theatre in Bury St Edmunds, reserved seats at £16 and unreserved seats at £12, which can be bought in person, by telephone on (01284) 758000 or online at www.theapex.co.uk.

Haverhill U3A

Meeting March 27, 2012: David Bryant's three-year term of office as chairman came to an end with an upbeat report of the activities of Haverhill U3A.

Membership numbers have increased to the point where some reorganisation or further seating accommodation could be required at the Arts Centre for the monthly meetings in the next year or two, and many of the 40 special interest groups are also full to capacity.

Ian O'Neill was voted in as new chairman. Thanks were expressed for the work of the old committee and best wishes to newly-elected members.

Following the formal part of the meeting, Diana Patrick from Age UK (Suffolk) was invited to explain some of the changes relating to benefits, and particularly the new PIPs (Partnership for Older People) supported by Suffolk County Council.

The next meeting, on April 24, will be a talk by Pip Wright, discovering local history from old newspapers.

MEMORIES

Haverhill History Group

ANYONE turning up for last month's talk on Horseheath Hall would have been rather surprised, although hopefully not disappointed, to find themselves learning instead about Market Towns Since 1750!

But many thanks to Tony Kirby for stepping into the breach at the last minute, and we look forward to welcoming Janet Morris this month for a talk which should be of particular interest to anyone with an interest in local history. It's hard to believe that Horseheath Hall, once described as one of the most magnificent country houses in England, has now completely disappeared as family fortunes built on the slave trade were dissipated by gambling and high living – a real riches-to-rags story!

Please join us in Haverhill's Arts Centre Studio at 7.30pm on Wednesday April 25. Admission is free to members and £2 for visitors – refreshments are available.

LAST week's Memories photo, from our archives, prompted a response from Steven Flavell, who said: "I was surprised to see the picture in this week's paper as I have no memory of it being taken at all or what we were doing."

"I am the boy right at the front in the bottom left with a stupid grin. I am now a volunteer at the British Heart Foundation in Haverhill and I appeared in the Weekly News just a couple of months ago with others from the BHF – I was the one dressed in the Hearty costume. "The picture was from St Felix Primary School. I am stood next to Madeline Brown. Right at the front is Collette, in the next row I can see Clayton, Stewart, Fiona Gray and Joanne. Also in the picture are Dean, Richard Poysden, Luke Morgan, Marie,

David, Bryan, Amy and Alex Goodall. I recognise some of the other faces but can't put a name to them. I think this would have been around 1986 or 1987." According to our archives, the picture was taken at an Easter fun day at the school in March 1988.

Man guilty of sex offences

Jury convicts security guard over abuse of young girl

A SECURITY guard has been found guilty of sexually abusing a young girl.

Mark Stringer, 48, was convicted at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday of four offences of sexual assault near Haverhill between 2007 and 2008, before the girl's 13th birthday.

The jury of seven men and five women were unable to reach a verdict on an allegation of rape by Stringer against the same girl and were discharged by Judge Peter Thompson.

Stringer, of Lower Crescent, Barham, who worked at Jobcentres in Suffolk and Essex, had pleaded not guilty to all five offences.

The jury heard allegations that Stringer had repeatedly raped the girl and subjected her to a series of sexual assaults.

Giving evidence via a TV link into the courtroom the girl, who cannot be named for legal reasons, claimed that Stringer

BY COURT REPORTER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

had put his hand inside her top and down her trousers on repeated occasions.

The girl had initially revealed to a friend on Facebook what happened and later told her mother, who alerted police.

It was while the sexual assault charges were being prepared for court that the girl claimed to her mother that Stringer had raped her.

Prosecutor Samantha Leigh said that while Stringer faced one rape charge and four of sexual assault, they related to a greater number of alleged incidents. Stringer told the jury that he had twice been married but was currently without a partner.

He denied ever deliberately or accidentally touching the girl in a sexual way, including on one occasion when the prosecution claimed she had been dressed in her school uniform.

Giving evidence, Stringer strongly denied that he had ever acted inappropriately towards the girl while she was alone with him.

Stringer said that allegations that he had raped the girl, pinning her down by her arm and muffling her screams with his arm, were entirely untrue.

The court heard that when police began investigating the girl's allegations, Stringer had twice attended interviews with police voluntarily.

He handed over a pre-prepared statement as he had declined to comment on further questions on the advice of his lawyer.

Defending, Joanne Eley claimed that a "culture of lies" had existed at the school attended by the girl at the time of the alleged offences.

Stringer was granted bail until he returns to court next month to be sentenced, after preparation of the preparation a pre-sentence report.

Appeal over pipes theft

COPPER and plastic pipes were stolen from the roof of a van in Haverhill at about 1.15pm last Thursday. A white waste pipe and three copper pipes were taken while the van was parked in Camps Road. Two men were seen looking around the van at the time of the theft. They are described as white and aged between 15-18. One was about 6ft tall and wearing a red hooded top, the other was short and thin. Anyone who saw these men should contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Burglars go on a spree

FOUR Suffolk burglaries were reported to police last Thursday. They included a property in Highfield, Clare, which was broken into between 4.20pm and 5.45pm. Offenders damaged a side door and a rear window. Items were moved around inside, but nothing taken. Other break-ins were reported in Lavenham, Denham and Great Finborough. Anyone with information about the offences should contact police on 101.

Fresh start for primary school

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PUPILS and visitors were welcomed to the grand opening ceremony at a new primary school.

The new Westfield Primary School in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, opened its doors for the first time to pupils on Tuesday – and to mark the occasion, a special assembly was held in the afternoon.

The school moved from its former building in Manor Road during the Easter holidays. The new school is purpose-built for 420 pupils and includes a nursery.

It will allow for extra pupils to be catered for following the closure of all Haverhill's middle schools last year and the introduction of a two-tier system, straight from primary to upper school. The new building adjoins Samuel Ward Academy, to where pupils will move on.

Class bases and activity areas at the new building are designed to enable flexible learning and allow for future curriculum changes. There is access to the outdoors from every class base, with outdoor spaces designed to encourage learning as well as for exercise.

It is of sustainable design to ensure CO2 emissions as low as possible, including a biomass boiler which is shared with the nearby new Samuel Ward building.

Head teacher Rosie Campbell and her pupils welcomed Cllr Graham Newman, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for children, schools and young people's services, to the opening, along with representatives of the architects and builders, while parents will be getting tours over the coming days.

Mrs Campbell said: "The children, staff and governors are all really proud of the new school and we are all thrilled with the lovely new building. It's every head teacher's dream.

"The children really love it and are absolutely wowed by the building and the size of it is quite a surprise for them. We have much more space with changing rooms for PE, rooms for cooking and an enormous library. It is a wonderful building, and Wonderful Westfield is now better than ever."

Cllr Newman said: "I am delighted to see the school open and ready for the children. It is a fantastic building that really lends itself to flexible and interactive learning.

"I am confident that the innovative layout of the classrooms and activity areas will enhance the educational experience for young people attending Westfield Primary."

Another couple tell of ambulance ordeal

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ANOTHER couple have told of a nightmare journey to hospital after waiting more than an hour for an ambulance to arrive.

Jean and Mike Kemp decided to tell their story after reading in last Thursday's Weekly News about Chris Garnett, who had suffered a suspected heart attack and was driven 18 miles from Haverhill to Addenbrooke's by his frantic wife June.

He had been refused an ambulance because his condition was not considered life-threatening.

Mrs Kemp, of Beaumont Vale, Haverhill, said she suffered a similar situation after husband Mike, 66, became ill on Easter Saturday. She dialled 999, but was called back by a doctor.

Mrs Kemp said: "Despite my husband being in intense pain

we were referred to the walk-in centre in Haverhill.

"We attended the centre and after a very brief examination we were told that he was suffering no more than a 'spasm' and prescribed painkillers.

"Throughout the day my husband became progressively worse and I called the emergency doctor again. In the end she advised me to call 999. I had considered driving Mike to Addenbrooke's, but he was in such pain he said he couldn't manage a car journey.

"I called for an ambulance at 10.45pm. We were told that it would be with us in 60 minutes, but most probably sooner. An hour went past, then another 15mins. By this time Mike was keeling over with the pain.

"Another phonecall to 999 and I was told ambulance had been diverted elsewhere, but one would be with us soon. I asked about the whereabouts of the ambulance and was told that there wasn't even one available at that time.

"Luckily my daughter was with us and we bundled Mike into the back of her car - screaming in absolute agony. It was absolutely awful seeing Mike in such distress. We feared for his life.

"At hospital Mike collapsed as he got out of the car. He was admitted straight away and all I can say is thank God for the staff at Addenbrooke's. Mike was put on a drip immediately and given several shots of morphine. Blood tests and a CT scan revealed a very, very serious and life-threatening gall-bladder condition."

She added: "What we are looking for is for them to confirm action has been taken that no-one else suffers the same fate."

A spokesman for the East of England Ambulance Service said: "Unfortunately we were unable to get an ambulance to the patient straight away because all our available resources were responding to patients in immediately life-threatening conditions, such as cardiac arrests and strokes, during this very busy time.

"Every ambulance service prioritises each 999 call to ensure that those in the greatest need get care the quickest.

"This patient's wife called us as he had been having stomach pains since 4am that day and the incident was correctly coded as not life-threatening on the information that the patient was fully alert, breathing normally and was speaking to his wife and our call handler."

Child neglect and abuse case is sent for Crown court hearing

A COUPLE accused of assaulting and neglecting their three-week-old son have had the case against them committed to Crown court.

The 20-year-old man and 21-year-old woman from Haverhill, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, were granted unconditional bail by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds last Thursday, when their case was sent to Ipswich Crown Court.

A case management hearing will be held on Friday, May 11, and both defendants have indicated that they intend to plead not guilty to three charges of assaulting, ill-treating or neglecting a child between August 10 and September 7 last year.

Couple eternally grateful for their gift of life . . .

Two good reasons to be cheerful: the Keen family, Pamela and Nathan with Tristan and Reuben.

TWINS Tristan and Reuben Keen are, quite simply, adorable. With their big brown eyes and cheeky grins they are impossibly cute and love to be cuddled by their besotted parents, Nathan and Pamela.

When the couple decided to begin their family they had no idea of the journey they would go through to get to where they are today. "We started trying in 2007 and I never thought I was going to have problems," says Pamela, 41. "I think you expect to get pregnant in the first few months of trying and we didn't. You just don't think it's going to happen."

When Pamela hadn't fallen pregnant after two years, she went to see her GP who referred her to Addenbrooke's for tests. "I was worried and I was devastated because I wasn't pregnant," remembers Pamela. "Every month I would get upset because another month had gone past and I wasn't pregnant, and then you would get positive again and think 'this month it will be it'."

"You do just become

BY LOUISE MARTIN

Email: editorial@newsand.criar.co.uk absolutely obsessed with it."

Tests showed no abnormalities in either Pamela or Nathan but as more time passed the couple from Swavesey accepted that Pamela was unlikely to conceive naturally and they attended an open day at Bourn Hall Clinic, the world's first IVF centre.

"I had it in my head that the NHS would fund us after two years but it's actually three, so we decided to go privately," remembers Pamela.

The mum, who was 36 at the time and Nathan 39, admits that after a day spent at the centre they become aware of how much their age could be playing a part in them not being able to conceive. "In my head it was always 40 when age became an issue but it's actually 35," says Pamela. "We heard all the statistics and they were actually quite low which made me feel even more anxious, but we decided to go ahead and we booked an appointment before we left the clinic to start IVF."

The husband and wife felt positive about starting their treatment but on the day they were due to attend the centre they were delighted when Pamela discovered she was pregnant. "We were so happy," remembers Pamela. "We rang our parents and we were really positive about it." Sadly, Pamela had a miscarriage in the early stages and after taking some time to recover, they decided to continue their journey with Bourn Hall Clinic.

Further tests revealed that Pamela only had one follicle (most women have eight), which meant only one egg, if any, would be released. If an egg was released there was no way of knowing if it was of good quality, if it wasn't there was the possibility of further miscarriage.

Nathan and Pamela were told in order to have a baby they would need to find an egg donor. "We were told to tell as many people as possible in the hope that someone might come forward, or someone might know someone who would be willing to donate," says Pamela.

Desperate to start the family they so dearly wanted, the couple began ringing friends and family in the hope that someone would be willing to give them their dream. In the end the couple were amazed to be met with three answers of help and gratefully accepted an offer from the first person Pamela had asked, her sister-in-law Emilia. "I wanted it to be someone I knew rather than an anonymous donor and even now, if I had a choice between Emy and an anonymous donor, I'd choose Emy," she says. "She was the obvious choice. We see a lot of my brother's family, they've got two healthy children and Emy's really healthy too."

After a course of drugs and injections, on March 10, last year, Emilia underwent egg retrieval and these were fertilised with Nathan's sperm. The couple then had a five-day wait to see which eggs, if any, would be implanted in to Pamela. "I think we had about 11 eggs and over night seven fertilised," says Pamela. "The idea is that by the time you get to day five the strongest eggs will have survived, so all during the process you get phone calls saying 'you're down to six', then five; it's a really anxious time. The good thing was it ended up that the last couple of days were a weekend when they were closed so we didn't get the final phone call until the Monday, when they told us we had two and could go ahead."

Nathan admits finding that short period of time very surreal. "I remember being at work and telling my boss and I think it was when we had five left. It was like having five children sitting there and waiting to see which ones were going to survive and make it into children."

The egg transfer took place straight away and two embryos were implanted. "I cried when they were put in and the nurse cried; mummy laughed and got told off," laughs Nathan. "Even though two were implanted we didn't expect to have twins."

A pregnancy test a couple of weeks later delivered the news they had been waiting so long to hear – they were pregnant. But when Pamela was just five weeks into her pregnancy she began bleeding heavily and doctors feared the worst. "I remember driving to Bourn Hall and saying to Nathan 'whatever you do don't get your hopes up, they're gone.'"

Thankfully an ultrasound scan revealed that not only was she still pregnant, they were expecting twins. "When she said there were two heart beats we cried again. We cried a lot," laughs Pamela.

The remainder of Pamela's pregnancy wasn't without its scares. She experienced another heavy bleed at nine weeks and spent the night in A&E before a further scan revealed the babies were fine. There was yet another bleed two weeks later and the new mum struggled with morning sickness throughout her pregnancy. "She was sick all the time," remembers Nathan. "She didn't put on any weight throughout the whole pregnancy."

The babies were due to be delivered by caesarean section at 38 weeks, on November 17, last year. But just a few days in to Pamela's maternity leave, on November 11, she began to feel like something was happening and they were told to make their way to The Rosie. "It was so exciting," beams Nathan. "I was just dancing around the ward. We really wanted them to be born on 11-11-11 but it was getting closer and closer to midnight and then the midwife said 'right, you're going in now.'"

Tristan was born at 11.47pm weighing 6lb followed two minutes later by Reuben, who weighed 5lb 9oz. After a few days in hospital the proud parents were allowed to take their new family home, it was, they agree, a very special moment. "It was a good night because we both lay there with the boys facing us and we just watched them," recalls Nathan. "We didn't sleep really; I think we stayed up all night. We just couldn't believe we'd got to this stage."

One of the first of many visitors was Emilia and her husband, to whom Pamela and Nathan will always be eternally grateful. "Emy is an angel," says Pamela. "When I asked her why she chose to donate her eggs to me she simply said 'because you are my family and I love you.'"

"Emy is really good," adds Nathan. "She's got a bond with the boys because they're her nephews but she doesn't try to make out she's their mother in anyway."

Nathan and Pamela explain that when the boys are old enough to understand, they will tell them the way in which they were conceived. "We'll start telling them as soon as they can understand," says Pamela. "Because we had to ask so many people for a donor so many people know, so it's better for us to tell them rather than somebody else. It's much nicer it just being part of their knowledge of what they've grown up with."

Nathan and Pamela are making the most of every moment of their new family life and say they would consider going through the treatment again to extend their family and have also looked in to adoption.

Having experienced the life-changing results of egg donation the couple urge anyone thinking about donating their eggs to go ahead.

"I think it's one of the greatest things you could do," says Nathan. "If you haven't had children, or you can't have children and you want children, you can't believe how debilitating that is or what impact that has on your relationship. It really is an amazing thing to do, it's a stunning thing to do, and anyone who does it can walk around with a really big smug smile on their face."

Quality deals from water softening firm

THERE are numerous advantages to installing a water softener, particularly now there's a reliable local firm offering competitive deals right on your doorstep.

Hart Water, based in Haverhill, is a brand new company established by Jackie and Adrian Hart, who has 12 years' experience in the industry.

The firm, which is set to cover a wide area including Haverhill, Saffron Walden and Newmarket, sells and installs water softeners, filters, purifiers and salt, as well as offering services to existing softeners.

Adrian explains: "There are lots of reasons to soften your water including removing the limescale from your appliances, meaning everything from your boiler to your washing machine will last longer. Also it's good for your skin, leaving it softer, and means you can cut down on your cleaning, as it tends to reduce the amount of products you will need to use by a third."

Installations, which are available for both domestic and commercial properties, generally take between three and five hours, and Adrian believes with regular maintenance a good quality water softener can last forever. Hart Water only stocks softeners from two top quality British firms, which come with their own warranties (which can be extended), as well as offering a guarantee on all work completed.

For more information, contact Hart Water on (01440) 713095 or 07856775060 or visit www.hartwater.co.uk.

Officer broke finger in bid to arrest soldier

A YOUNG soldier who is due to go to Afghanistan next year panicked when stopped by police – and one officer broke his finger trying to stop him running away.

Jack Little, 20, of Steventon End, Ashdon, near Saffron Walden, admitted obstructing PC Rupert Beynon in the execution of his duty in Haverhill on March 31.

He appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, April 17, also admitting driving with excess alcohol and with no insurance. He was ordered to pay £30 compensation to the injured officer, plus a total of £550 in fines and costs.

Chairman of the magistrates Muriel Lawrence told him: "It seems an un-soldierly thing to have run away."

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Hugh Casson, prosecuting, said PC Beynon and another officer had been on patrol in Queen Street at 2am, when they saw a silver BMW heading towards Lower Downs Slade with its engine revving and tyres screeching.

The other officer followed the car into the car park and found the defendant standing by it. Little started to walk away and the officer called him to stop, but he then began to run towards Queen Street.

PC Beynon came towards Little, who tried to run around him, but the officer tackled him and felt an instant pain to his right hand as he did so. Little smelt of alcohol and was arrested after giving a positive breath test.

Little told the court he knew he was uninsured to drive because he could not afford to pay the premium. He said: "I just panicked because I knew I was not insured and I was probably over the limit. It was just a stupid decision to run."

Second Lieutenant Jack Campbell, Little's commanding officer at barracks in Windsor, described him as an exceptional soldier with good prospects in front of him.

He said: "He is well-liked and respected and this is the worst slip-up he has had. He knows the mistake he has made and it is not going to be repeated. It was completely out of character and he has the full support of his family."

Little was also banned from driving for 12 months.

Depot due to get consent for night work

COUNCILLORS meeting today (Thursday) are recommended to grant consent for a bus depot to carry on night-time working despite strong objections from neighbours and councillors.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee are due to carry out a site inspection at the Burton Coaches depot in Duddery Hill, Haverhill, then decide whether to issue a Certificate of Lawfulness for work to continue there seven days a week, day and night.

The report to the committee said the certificate should be issued as the applicants had provided evidence from staff members that the use of the site had been continuous over the past 10 years. Haverhill Town Council and many neighbours disputed this and registered vehement opposition to the second application for a certificate, after a previous one was refused last year. They said that night-time working had only taken place since 2006, causing many broken nights' sleep and the need to keep windows and doors shut to keep out exhaust fumes.

GOODBYE cupcake, hello cake pop! These cakes are a new trend hitting our streets in 2012.

Many people are having these wonderful treats as gifts at parties, wedding favours from the bride and groom and even presents to loved ones.

The cake pop is made by mixing a cooked and cooled cake sponge into fine breadcrumb texture and then adding your choice of butter cream and mixing until the mix sticks together. Then you roll the cake pops into balls, place in the fridge to harden – then dip your cake pops into candy melts and decorate them how you like.

I have made quite a few of these cake pops recently and they have proven very popular. Some have them have been a gift to put into children's party bags instead of a birthday cake. I have made some pirate cake pops for a little boy's birthday party and the children loved them.

I started my business, Hannah's Buns, just over a year ago. After working many hours as a chef – one of the places I worked was The Swan in Lavenham – I decided I wanted to spend more time at home with my young family so I began my journey in business and haven't looked back. I make a large array of products including cupcakes, wedding cakes, celebrations cakes, cake pops and look out for my new delightful Whoopie pies.

Please visit my website for details about me and my business and if you would like to order your first batch of cake pops: www.hannahsbuns.co.uk

 Below I give you my recipe for chocolate cake pops if you would like to give them a go yourself.

I also have a blog which you can find on my website and on there are some of the other cake pops I have created if you would like some ideas.

Hannah's cake pops

INGREDIENTS
 560g cooked chocolate cake
 375g chocolate butter cream

1.5kg candy melts
 Lolly pop sticks
 Styrofoam

INSTRUCTIONS

■ Break up your chocolate sponge with your fingers in a bowl until you have a texture similar to breadcrumbs.

■ Add your soft butter cream to the bowl and stir until the mixture sticks together.

■ Have a tray with parchment paper on ready to put your cake balls on and weigh them to about 26g each and roll into balls.

■ Place on your baking tray and leave in the fridge for about two hours until they firm up.

■ Now you need to melt your candy melts – follow the instructions on the packet for this.

■ Take your cake balls out of the fridge. Dip your lolly sticks in the candy melts about an inch in then push into the cake ball.

■ Then you need to dip the whole cake pop into the candy melts and pull out quite quickly.

■ Place the dipped cake pop in the Styrofoam and continue with the rest. This should make around 30 to 40 cake pops

■ Once you have dipped all your cake pops comes the fun part of decorating them. There are so many different things you can make them into just let your imagination run wild.

FEATHERED FRIENDS:
Arthur Ransome's adventure comes to the stage.

Going wild in the country

The idyllic childhood adventures of Arthur Ransome's literary classic Swallows and Amazons are at the Cambridge Arts Theatre. JENNIFER SHELTON quizzes some of the cast to find out why this 1920s classic is making waves with a new generation of children.

What did you know about Swallows and Amazons before you signed up for the play?

Akiya: "I read the book as a child and found it really exciting, and I'd worked with Tom (Morris, the director) on another play before this. I was invited to the workshop and knew it was going to be an amazing project."

Richard: "I'd only heard about it, but I immediately got it when I read the script. And I read Robinson Crusoe as well, which I actually really enjoyed! Some people find it a bit heavy."

The book uses a lot of specific nautical references, and the language is certainly of its time. Is this play a bit more accessible?

Akiya: "Yes – on stage, you're seeing it all, rather than reading a description."

Katie: "That's right. In the first chapter, there's a whole thing about Roger 'tacking', but if you don't know anything about sailing, you're going, 'What is that?'. Whereas here, we're physically doing it, so you can see what it is."

All of you are adults, playing children. How did you approach the roles?

Katie: "The children all very much feel that they are grown-ups, which is why, when you watch it, we're not putting on young voices or skipping around."

Stewart: "And that's how they've come to the decision to allow me to play a 7-year-old with a beard!"

How have audiences reacted to the beard?

Akiya: "They never question it!"

Katie: "It's funny, one little girl who came backstage said to me: 'Oh, you're the little girl who wanted to make all the tea for everybody'. She talked to me as if I was younger than her."

The play relies a lot on us using our imaginations. How have you found using bin liners for birds and ribbons for waves? Does the audience buy into it?

Katie: "Definitely, because it's just like the way children play. I have three nieces and if they're playing witches they'll never use a broom, but just a stick from the garden or a tea towel if they're playing weddings."

Akiya: "It also really conveys the sense of the children and their imaginations. It means we're having to use our imaginations too, and I think that's what's really great about this piece."

What do you think audiences will take away from it?

Richard: "We have had a few comments about children seeing the show and then wanting to go home and make a boat. I think it does inspire play."

Akiya: "I've heard adults talking about it afterwards and saying how lovely it was, just for an evening, to be allowed to be a child again."

How do you feel about computer games and the way children play today? Do you think this show will inspire children to get outdoors and rediscover traditional ways of interacting?

Celia: "The child's natural instinct is to play, but it's whether or not that's encouraged. If you're only ever in front of an Xbox, your imagination slowly stops because you're given all the images and aren't having to engage your brain."

Silents are golden

IN the year that has seen The Artist, pictured, and Hugo sweep the board at the BAFTAs and Oscars, the 15th British Silent Film Festival will take place in Cambridge from later this month, offering a programme packed full of silent gems presented with live musical accompaniment from some of the world's leading silent film musicians.

Special events include a performance by the fabulous Dodge Brothers – including the UK's favourite film critic, Mark Kermode, on double bass. They'll be playing their unique brand of Americana to a Soviet prison drama, The Ghost That Never Returns, in which an inmate, given his last day of freedom is pursued across a barren landscape by an assassin in an unforgettable cat-and-mouse chase. The UK's most celebrated silent film accompanist, Neil Brand, will accompany Jacques Feyder's moving Visages d'Enfants. Filmed in the glorious Alpine regions of Switzerland, it tells a tragic tale through the eyes of a child. The classic Soviet account of the building of the Trans Siberian Railway, Turksib, will be presented with a new score performed by the Bronnt Industries Kapital. Stephen Horne will be performing his new score for the BFI National Archive's new restoration of The First Born, accompanied by Janey Miller (oboe) and Martin Pyne (percussion). This sophisticated and adult film set in the world of politics was directed by Miles Mander and co-scripted by the redoubtable Mrs Hitchcock, Alma Reville. And from Norway comes the newly restored Gypsy Anna set in stunning mountain scenery and with a new score by Halldor Krogh. You can learn more about silent film with a special Ask the Experts session, which will look at the impact of silent film in the 21st Century with the release of The Artist, among many others. And the festival's annual Rachael Low Lecture will be given by the eminent academic, film historian and broadcaster Professor Ian Christie, who will be looking at the 1910s, a period often overlooked in British cinema history. And last, but not least, there will be a celebration of canine contributions to silent cinema in the family matinee Animal Stars of the Silent Screen, in tribute to the real star of The Artist, Uggie the dog.

■ The British Silent Film Festival runs until April 19-22 at the Arts Picturehouse cinema, Emmanuel College, the Varsity Hotel, and West Road Concert Hall. Full Festival programme is at www.britishtsilents.co.uk. For tickets, call 0871 902 5720 or visit www.picturehouses.co.uk.

SILENT REVIVAL: The Artist proved a worldwide hit with cinema audiences last year.

news from

JACKIE Oates, a phenomenon in the exploding UK folk-pop scene, will be doing what she does best tonight at 8pm. Originally a member of the Mercury-nominated The Unthanks, she has since carved out an astonishing solo career. She has become a name within folk music circles, has won two BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards, and her voice and style have been compared to that of folk superstar June Tabor.

Jo Caulfield, one of the most successful stand-up comedians in the country, will hit Haverhill tomorrow with her show, Cruel to Be Kind (The Tour of Towns I've Heard Of But Never Been To). Expect razor-sharp observations and scandalous one-liners as Jo discusses irritating girlfriends, negotiating with terrorists, celebrity perfumes, bespoke kitchens and a visit to HMV that ends in having dinner with people she doesn't know.

If you enjoyed the previous Centre Stage productions by The Farndale Avenue Housing Estate Townswomen's Guild Dramatic Society's productions of Macbeth and The Mikado, we're sure you will be pleased to hear they are back at the Arts Centre from Thursday, April 26 to Saturday 28 at 7.30pm, with a matinee at 2.30pm on the Saturday. Following their great success, the group, in festive mood, mount another assault on the classics with their original version of A Christmas Carol. With their exuberant enthusiasm, they present a dizzying array of characters from the Dickensian favourite (and a few which aren't). You have been warned.

The big film

SALMON FISHING IN THE YEMEN certificate 12A, 1h46m

A SOCIALLY awkward fisheries expert reels in a spirited soul-mate in Lasse Hallström's unabashedly feelgood movie based on the novel by Paul Torday. Salmon Fishing In The Yamen wrings every last drop of sentiment out of its slender premise that polar opposites attract, especially if it leads to a traditional happy ending. Government boffin Dr Alfred Jones (Ewan McGregor) works for the Foreign & Commonwealth Office under boss Bernard Sugden (Conleth Hill), who is a mild nuisance to any pretty girl in the department. Alfred is asked to strengthen Anglo-Arab relations by helping consultant Harriet Chetwode-Talbot (Emily Blunt) to realise the impossible dream of Sheikh Muhammad (Amr Waked) who wants to introduce British salmon to the Middle East.

At first Alfred rebuffs the idea and returns to the drudge of his suburban life with wife Mary (Rachael Stirling). But when the Prime Minister's potty-mouthed press secretary Patricia Maxwell (Kristin Scott Thomas) catches wind of the Sheikh's loopy plans, she sees past the impracticalities and focuses on the feelgood aspect of the story to distract attention from the recent bombing of an Afghan mosque. When Alfred eventually meets the Sheikh, he is won over by the statesman's passion and thus begins a momentous journey of self-discovery. Salmon Fishing In The Yamen is fluff but it's beautifully framed and well-acted fluff to warm the cockles of a cynical heart. McGregor and Blunt are an attractive pairing. McGregor hides his sex appeal behind grey suits and mournful eyes while Blunt is luminous as a high-flying career woman presented with an agonising choice between two paramours.

Toughing out the drought

GREEN TEAM: Once evergreens are established, they can tackle lack of water well, says Lucy Summers.

WE are all by now aware of the various hosepipe bans in place and the prospect of drooping bedding plants and shrivelled vegetables.

But all is not lost because canny gardeners can make use of evergreen flowering shrubs, topiary and textured plants during the summer months which will still look good in the winter, according to landscape designer Lucy Summers, author of Evergreen Plants, the latest in the Greenfingers Guides.

"As a young gardener, I avoided evergreen plants like the plague, so distracted was I by the endless species and varieties of showy perennials," she says.

"But all gardeners' tastes mature and change, rather like throwing out the chintz and Victoriana and updating with modern fabrics and furniture.

"With experience, I learned that a garden without evergreen scaffolding is destined for ordinariness."

But how will evergreens fare in the drought?

"Once they're established – more than three years old – most of them will do reasonably well," she says.

"How often do people water their hedges? Hardly ever. They are very

by Hannah Stephenson

drought-tolerant.

"If we have weeks and weeks of drought they may suffer a bit, but they are tough contenders. And all the plants from the Mediterranean are very happy. They've been brought up on meagre and they are used to meagre."

Berberis, box, choisya, helianthemum (rock rose), hebe, potentilla, viburnum, rosemary, lavender and honeysuckle are among shrubs which can do well with little water, while ornamental grasses such as Stipa gigantea and Stipa tenuissima also need little maintenance.

"Many people think evergreens are dull and green – but so many have a flower. Grasses like Stipa gigantea give you a big clump of green throughout the winter and a beautiful shimmering curtain of flowerheads in the summer.

Cut it back once a year and the rest of the year it looks after itself," says Summers.

Phormiums (New Zealand flax) are drought-tolerant, wind-tolerant and will happily grow in coastal conditions.

Aloe striatula, the hardy aloe, is also an architectural winner which bears tall, candle-like yellow/orange flowers in midsummer if placed in a sunny, sheltered spot.

Other drought-tolerant architectural stars include Astelia 'Silver Spear', its strap-like leaves reaching around 1.2m in height, while purple sage also looks exotic, with its purple leaves and accompanying flowers.

All of these plants make fantastic statements and are suitable for most gardens, although the crowns of phormiums may need protecting in winter with a layer of straw.

However, most evergreens should be mulched before the ground dries out too much. Those who've stockpiled water in water butts will benefit from giving beds a water before mulching with organic matter, to suppress weeds and conserve moisture.

"If you water once a week, heavily and thoroughly, it's much better for plants because it encourages them to root deeper," Summers maintains.

"If their roots are deeper they can find water more easily, but not surface water."

Many low-growing, spreading evergreens thrive in poor, well-drained soil and sunny sites and once established become very drought-tolerant.

But it's important to give newly planted evergreens some TLC to get them off to a good start.

Before planting, thoroughly soak the plants in their pots in a bucket of water until the bubbles stop rising to the surface.

Tease out any roots circling around the edge of the plant's rootball, which will help the roots to grow out into the soil.

Dig a hole and place the plant in before filling the hole with water until at least a watering-can-full has soaked in. Some will need additional organic matter when you infill, but not all evergreens need an extremely rich soil, so it's best to check with your garden centre beforehand.

They will need watering well once a week (twice a week in dry, hot spells) to survive, but should become low-maintenance once they are established.

"One of the biggest differences you can make is by mulching your soil – go for a really meaty organic compost that's almost fibrous to touch," says Summers.

"Most shrubs really are perfect for the lazy gardener. They are able to thrive without your interference."

■ Evergreen Plants by Lucy Summers is published in hardback by Headline, priced £12.99.

Electric commuter 'ideal' is the Twizy

It's all about happy drivers – and that means Skoda

SKODA has dominated the 2012 Auto Express Driver Power car ownership survey with its Yeti SUV in top spot, the Superb family car second and the Octavia in fourth.

This is the second year running that Skoda has topped Driver Power with this year's rankings a reverse of last year, when the Superb came first and the Yeti second.

Steve Fowler, editor-in-chief of Auto Express, says: "Skoda clearly knows a thing or two about keeping its customers happy."

"It builds cars people love, while its dealers do all they can to please owners.

"Skoda's advertising says that it's the manufacturer of happy drivers – this year's Driver Power survey shows it's right."

New for this year's Driver Power survey was a technology category, asking car buyers to rate the quality of their in-car gadgets.

British-built Nissans dominated the top of the tech chart with the Juke in first place and the Qashqai in fourth.

There was more good news for British car-makers with the Jaguar XF continuing its strong run in Driver Power with a fifth place this year. Last year the Jaguar XF was named the most successful car in 10 years of Driver Power surveys.

Renault: 'We'll soon have you Twizy-ing around town'

WITH diesel is now £1.50 a litre, and petrol not far behind, drivers are starting to take the electric car market a lot more seriously – which is good because there are three new electric vehicles about to appear on the city's streets, writes Mike Scialom.

This week saw the UK launch of the Renault Twizy, which will be on sale at Cambridge's Newmarket Road-based Renault dealership, Wests, "before the end of the month", according to a spokesman for the firm.

The Twizy comes in three trim options – Urban, Colour and Technic – and prices start at £6,690 for the Urban option. It's powered by a 17bhp electrical motor which can be fully charged in 3.5

The Renault Twizy: All-electric performance in a two-seater which is 'an ideal commuter car', according to Wests.

hours and has a range of around 70 miles.

The Vauxhall Ampera and the Chevrolet Volt are also on their way.

The Ampera has a petrol engine add-on to its central electric unit which boosts the range to 310 miles, while the all-electric Volt offers sporting prowess in the electric sector for the first time. The Volt will be launched in Cambridge next week, with prices starting at £28,545.

There are concerns, of course, that the electric car sector is still in hock to fossil fuels thanks to the charging-up process, but for many motorists the prospect of sidestepping worries over fuel prices will make them deeply attractive.

"The Twizy is an ideal commuter car," Wests' spokesman concluded.

Vauxhall's £99 service offer

LOCAL Vauxhall dealers, Murketts of Cambridge and Burton Brothers in Ramsey, are helping drivers cut the cost of vehicle maintenance by offering a fixed price service for £99.

Available until September 30, the great value interim service allows drivers to receive expert, quality servicing on Vauxhall models aged three years or older.

Vauxhall trained technicians at the dealerships on Histon Road (Cambridge) and Bury Road (Ramsey) will change the oil and oil filter, and top-up the anti-freeze, coolant, windscreen washer and power-steering fluid levels for the fixed-price fee. Plus they'll also carry out a full range of checks and adjust tyre pressures. Stewart Lebentz, group sales manager at Murketts of Cambridge, comments: "Regular servicing is an essential part of keeping your Vauxhall working at its best and in top condition and no-one knows your vehicle better than a Vauxhall-trained technician.

To take advantage of a fixed price service for £99 or for expert advice from the dealership's Vauxhall trained technicians, call Murketts on (01223) 706706 or Burton Brothers on (01487) 811796.

Volvo DRIVES Towards Zero emissions diesel strategy

VOLVO has taken the next step towards its DRiVe Towards Zero strategy by making further improvements to its diesel engine line-up, reinforcing its European leadership in fuel efficiency improvement by new CO2 initiatives.

From model year 2013, almost all diesel-powered versions of the Volvo S60, V60, V70 and S80 will have CO2 emissions below 120g/km.

In combination with the engine refinements for model year 2013, Volvo has also upgraded its infotainment system, SENSUS, in-line with the all-new Volvo V40. This enables Volvo to offer new technology to its customers by being able to specify Road Sign Information, Active High Beam and Tunnel Detection.

"The conventional diesel and petrol power trains continue to play a major role on the environmental agenda. We are continuously improving their efficiency and in the last two years Volvo has brought CO2 emissions from our diesel and petrol model ranges down by 13 per cent," says Peter Mertens, senior vice president of research and development at Volvo.

The model year

2013 versions of the Volvo S60, V60, XC60, V70, XC70 and S80 are available to order now, with production starting in May.

Parents spend £1,200 a year driving their children around

SOME parents are spending 50 hours a month driving their children to school and to social activities, according to a just-published survey.

As many as 19 per cent of mothers and fathers fork out at least £1,200 a year per child on their offspring's hobbies and activities and the transport costs of getting them there, the AA/Populus poll found.

A third of parents lose between 10 and 49 hours a month driving their children around, with 2 per cent spending 50 hours or more on "taxi duty".

London parents are the most prolific spenders, with one in 20 spending more than £200 per child every month on things like sport, music and dance classes.

This equates to a minimum spend for each child of £43,200 over their childhood, up to the age of 18.

The results were based on responses from 6,396 adults with children aged four to 18 still living at home.

Mark Peacock, head of AA Driving School, said: "Mum and dad's taxi is still very much in operation as parents spend large chunks of their time getting their children to various activities.

"Besides taking up a lot of time, parents' driving habits can influence the drivers their children will become later in life so it's important they set a good example on these journeys."

On the way: The Skoda Citigo is due on June 1.

SKODA has confirmed that the prices for the new Citigo city car will undercut both of its sister models, the Seat Mii and the Volkswagen Up.

At £7,630 for the cheapest three-door version, the Citigo S is £215 cheaper than the equivalent Seat Mii and £365 cheaper than the basic Volkswagen Up.

The Citigo will also be available as a five-door in any of the three trim levels for a premium of £350.

Above the entry-level S spec, which will include the basics and plenty of safety kit, the mid-range SE will probably be the biggest seller.

Spec sheet highlights include body-coloured door handles and mirrors, electric front windows, ESP stability control, air conditioning and remote central locking among other items, all for a price increase of £900 over a Citigo S.

At the top of the tree, Elegance models include electrically adjustable and heated door mirrors, 14in alloy wheels, heated front seats, leather steering wheel and front fog lamps, as well as a removable tablet device that acts as an infotainment interface and satellite navigation system.

Costing £9,470 for the three-door, the Elegance model is £1,840 more expensive than the basic S, and £940 pricier than the SE. Insurance ratings have also been confirmed, and the good news for buyers is that S, SE and even one Elegance model all have the lowest possible insurance rating: Group 1E.

The 1.0-litre engine is available in 59bhp and 74bhp versions including GreenTech variants that sneak below the 100g/km of CO2 barrier.

The Citigo will be in showrooms on June 1.

Skoda's Citigo – due June 1 – will cost from £7,630

Rhys snapped up by Posh

DEFENDER Rhys Shulver has signed a contract with Championship side Peterborough United.

The product of Haverhill Rovers' flourishing Eastern Junior Alliance set-up was signed up after a successful trial period where he starred in games against Leyton Orient, Southend, QPR and Gillingham.

Shulver (right) has played for Haverhill for the last four years and has also played this season for Suffolk, as a student at Linton Village College, he also represented the Cambridgeshire county schools team.

Haverhill manager Peter Betts said: "He has been hard-working, and his attitude and commitment has set a great example for others.

"We are delighted he has been given this opportunity to participate at the next level, it shows how much emphasis the club now places on individual development of their players."

Shelford & Stapleford Strikers 0

Kedington 7

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-14B KEDINGTON won the league with two games to spare thanks to an emphatic win.

The visitors dominated throughout, but it was not until late in the first half that the breakthrough happened, Conor Rankin converting Cameron Larkin's pass.

But the second half was a different story as Ellis Wiffen (2), Rankin, George Mustoe, Leon Bailey and Ty Alleyne found the net.

Manager Neil Mustoe said: "I am really proud of the way the lads have applied themselves this season, winning the league with two games to spare is a real testament to the hard work they've put in."

Waterbeach 1 Hondon Hawks 2

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-13C HAWKS turned in a brave performance against a big Waterbeach side to come away with the points.

Skipper Milo Holmes cracked in a 30-yard free kick to give Hondon a deserved lead, but 10 minutes later Waterbeach drew level.

Just before half time, Holmes put Jake Ryan through, and he rounded the keeper and made it 2-1. Hawks battled all second half to hold out for a fantastic victory.

St Ives 0 West Wrattling 4

Cambridge & Dist Colts League, under-15A HARRY Wilson scored twice as Wrattling took a 3-0 lead inside the first eight minutes. After Ben Weedon had put the visitors ahead from Connor Shaw's through pass, Wilson converted two volleys from free kicks into the box to make it 3-0.

Michael Torode added the fourth after good work by Jack Ferguson and Ryan Cooper.

The second half was tighter, with the hosts coming closest to a goal when they hit the post. Shaw was man of the match for Wrattling.

■ Aiden Comer got the only goal of the game as West Wrattling beat Cambourne Eagles 1-0 in the BM Kempton 9v9 Youth League, 12A.

■ Thurlow Youth are looking for players at under-eight and under-13 levels. For more information, contact Wayne Gardner on 07831 626982 (under-eights) or Tony Williamson on 07809 550420 (under-13s).

&gt;&gt; Golf

Cohen's ace display at drive-in

DAVE Cohen had no shortage of people to celebrate with after hitting a hole-in-one at the Haverhill Golf Club Captain's Drive-In.

Cohen holed the ace on the 144-yard, par-three second hole, using a seven iron, a feat he could share with the 152 competitors taking part in the event.

■ Father-and-son pairing Dave and Mike Perrett were victorious in the final of the Touchwood Cup.

Opponents Jack Bligh and Pete McLennan started the foursomes matchplay event quickly by winning the opening two holes, and only a long birdie putt from Mike Perrett stopped them winning the third.

The Perretts went on to win the next six holes with a combination of three birdies and three pars, giving them a four-hole advantage at the turn, and they went on to claim a 6&5 win.

■ Ryan Greenwood clinched the men's midweek medal on countback after a very close fight.

His excellent round of 92-25-67 saw his handicap reduced by a shot to 24 and saw him edge to victory as four golfers managed the same net score.

Results - Division One: 1 Gary Liddle 71-4-67, 2 Kim Ward 79-12-67, 3 Jack Warwick 74-7-67. Division Two: 1 Steve Piotrowski 84-15-69, 2 Simon Cousins 85-15-70, 3 Stewart Johnstone 90-19-71. Division Three: 1 Ryan Greenwood 92-25-67, 2 Peter Amies 92-23-69, 3 Graham Hepworth 92-22-70.

■ Lewis Whiting won the under-14 trophy at the Stoke by Nayland Junior Open.

Played as a 36-hole medal format, Whiting had the best gross score with rounds of 87-6-81 and 82-6-76.

■ There were handicap cuts aplenty at the juniors' 'A Steam' competition, played as medal for handicaps scratch to 28 and stableford for handicaps 29 and over.

The winner of the medal competition was Mitchell Davis with a round of 78-16-62, and he saw his handicap cut by two shots to 14.

Second was Lewis Whiting with the lowest gross score of 69-7-63, trimming his handicap by a shot to five, and third was Michael Perrett with 73-6-67.

The stableford competition was won by Joshua Hulyer with 40pts, cutting his handicap cut by two shots to 30. Second with 32 was Edward Halpin, and third on countback was Nicole Pike with 28.

At the P Franklin event for juniors, played to the same format, Stephen Boyles was the winner of the medal competition with a round of 78-12-66, to cut his handicap by a shot to 11. Second was Whiting with the lowest gross score of 72-5-67, and third was Louis Martin with 94-27-67, edging out Michael Perrett with 73-6-67.

In the stableford competition, Josh Hulyer was the clear winner with 34pts, ahead of Dan Walker with 30 and Ben Bradnam with 28.

■ Haverhill Juniors halved their friendly match against Newton Green. Mitchell Davis and Alice Iron won 2&1 against Scott Edwards and Harvey Watts, but Louis Martin and Dan Walker lost 5&4 to Jed Seeley and Alex Ashworth, and Josh Hulyer and Aneka Benson went down 5&3 to Max Henson and Taylor Roloff. But Dan Bentley and Nicole Pike won 2&1 against Tom King and Ben Uttridge to seal an overall half.

■ Haverhill's men's team then played a friendly against Abbotsley, claiming a seven-hole victory to retain the 'bone of contention' trophy.

■ Lewis Whiting and James Higham represented Suffolk under-14s against Sussex, with the former halving his singles match and the latter winning 4&3. However, Suffolk lost 12-4 overall.

■ Haverhill Seniors won their friendly match against the Notleys 4½ - 3½ and defeated Bury St Edmunds 6-2. An away match at Girton saw a 5½-2½ defeat, but they bounced back with an excellent 5-3 win at Royston. However, their fortunes changed on Friday 13 when they 6½-1½ at home to Thetford.

BRIAN Chandler took his first win in the Mazda MX5 Championship with a fantastic drive in the second race of the championship's opening weekend at Silverstone.

The 33-year-old Haverhill driver spent the opening laps of the second race battling for the lead, but a close contest saw him drop down to third for a lap. He soon regained his second spot and with less than half of the race remaining, he took the lead and held on to it until the chequered flag.

"I'm absolutely chuffed to bits," he said. "It was a really close, hard race. Going wheel to wheel in slippery conditions was fun but it felt like being just inches from an accident the whole race.

Everybody was really fair and well behaved."

Chandler was third in the first race. The next meeting will be at Snetterton on April 28 and 29.

AMIT Gupta and Satyajit Satbhai have been drafted in by Haverhill as they launch their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One campaign at home to Mildenhall on Saturday.

The Anglia Ruskin University students have been brought in to help fill a void left by the loss of several of the club's foremost players from their inaugural top-flight season last summer.

Former captain Adam Dellar and Sam Powell have joined Sawston, and Raj Singh has rejoined Cambridge Granta, while Scott Webb and Bill Moran have both retired.

Gupta returns to Manor Road after a spell with Halstead, while wicketkeeper Satbhai is rated a decent prospect according to chairman Steven Woodley.

Woodley said: "They're decent players and we've got to strengthen ourselves by bringing these guys in after losing a few players."

"The aim of the club is to bring the youth through from the coaching we do, but we need a couple of players like these to hopefully help keep us in the division while they come through."

Betts plans a busy summer

PETER Betts took the positives as Haverhill made it seven Ridgeons League, Premier Division games without a win with a 2-0 defeat at champions Wroxham.

The Rovers manager ran the rule over several young players with a view to next season.

Teenage goalkeeper Liam Savage – the ninth shot-stopper employed by Betts this term – made a couple of errors for the goals, but Betts was pleased with the run out.

"It was all positive, really," said Betts. "We had an opportunity to look at some young players that we'd not looked at this season."

"Bearing in mind the number of players we had out, we gave a good account of ourselves and I can't really grumble."

"To be using two goalkeepers in a season is a travesty, but to have to use nine is a nightmare."

"We'll get the last few games out of the way and then we'll regroup and address what we need to do. We need to get it right in the summer."

Betts is keen to refresh things at the New Croft in order to get the club back firing on all cylinders in 2012-13.

"We need to use Wroxham as the benchmark and an example of how it should be done," said the boss.

"Then there are the likes of Ely and Brantham who've done really

Students come in to strengthen Haverhill ranks

"We've got some very promising young players, but it's going to take a couple of years before you can rely on them."

"In the long term, we want to hold our own in Division One with all local homegrown talent."

The experienced head of Simon Youngs will continue to captain Haverhill, and Woodley said he hoped they would get off to a good start after beating Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League side Sudbury in a friendly at the weekend.

He said: "They had eight regulars and we turned up with a 14-year-old, two 16-year-olds and a 17-year-old."

"It was a very close game and we got them all out for 123 and we got it in the last over with a couple of balls to spare, but we won't be getting carried away."

Talbots defeat was on horizon

Sudbury Talbots 31
Haverhill 21
Suffolk League, Division One
HAVERHILL'S strong pack was nullified from the start of their match at Sudbury Talbots as the hosts claimed to have only 13 fit players and were unable to field a full front row, meaning scrums would be uncontested throughout.

At kick-off, Sudbury actually fielded a 15-strong team, but filled with running back players.

Haverhill camped on the Sudbury line for most of the first half but, where they would have pushed over a scrum to score were not able to. Two rare Sudbury visits to the Haverhill half resulted in two tries, one of them converted, for a 12-0 lead.

Haverhill tried everything they could to score, dropping the ball on the line a few times, or letting the final pass slip out of their hands, but on the stroke of half time, Gavin Hope charged down a clearance and scored to bring the score back to 12-7.

Haverhill took the lead on 50 minutes after a quick penalty saw Mark Jury release Chris Flannery for a score, converted by Jury for a 14-12 lead.

Against an opposition packed with runners, open ball was tough to defend, and the hosts went back in front with a try, followed by a converted score.

Haverhill again camped on the Sudbury line for the last 15 minutes, but some unlucky handling and good defending held them out until four minutes from time, when Jury was released by Hope to score and convert to make it 24-21.

I'll have that: Haverhill's Carl Anderson stretches to gather Sudbury ball in the line-out.

CP

But on the stroke of full time Sudbury managed a converted score to complete their victory.

Haverhill travel to Southwold for the semi-final of the Suffolk Plate on Saturday (3pm). A coach leaves the club at 11am and there are spaces available. Contact the club through the Facebook page or the website at www.haverhillrfc.co.uk.

Haverhill Rovers res 1
Long Melford res 0
Ridgeons Reserve League, South Division
A HOWLER by visiting keeper Chris Cleverly handed all three points to Haverhill in a tight encounter at the New Croft on Saturday.
Long Melford had the best chance of the first half when Cleverly's long, wind-assisted kick deceived the Rovers defence.

Stuart Alston nipped in and lobbed Rovers goalkeeper Michael Brantham, only to see his goalbound shot headed off the line by Tom Saville.

Blake Kicks replied for Rovers, volleying a free kick which Cleverly saved smartly down to his right.

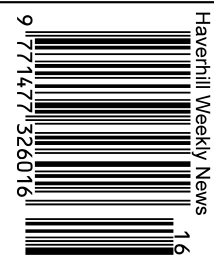

As the half ended Melford had further chances, with Brantham making a save from Alston, before Dan Anderson shot wide of the Rovers goal after Adam Palmer had allowed a high ball to drop in the penalty area.

An equally tight second half saw Rovers gain the upper hand with Palmer's pace causing the Melford defence problems.

However the winner came on the hour as Cleverly appeared to gather a long through ball at the edge of his penalty area, only to fumble it into the path of striker

Tobi Ogbonna (pictured), who calmly rounded the stranded keeper and slotted the ball into the empty net.

Melford offered little response to going behind as Callum Harrison and Ogbonna continued to cause difficulties with their movement and pace. However, midfielder Charlie Knight was man of the match.
